

Arson Information Network Western Australia

The Arson Information Network (AIN) brings together the resources of the Fire and Emergency Services Authority, WA Police and the Department of Environment and Conservation to fight arson in WA.

AIN is a multifaceted information and intelligence sharing network that uses management and prevention strategies to combat arson. Community engagement, marketing and media are used to promote the benefits and outcomes of a collective approach.

The AIN ensures firefighters and the community pass all critical information about people lighting fires to the police quickly.

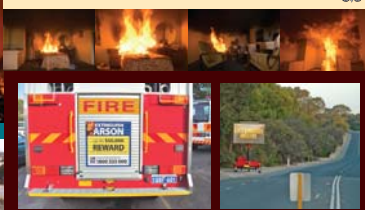

The AIN has led to:

- Better analysis of deliberate fires.
- Faster response times.
- Improved networks.
- Improved access to data and shared intelligence.
- Identification of suburb hotspots.
- More charges for arson offences.

extinguish arson

Department of Environment and Conservation
Our environment, our future